Abstract:

In this talk, we provide a brief description of the stock market and internet search engines. We then suggest some efficient methods to gathering historical stock price data and Google search data. Additionally, we propose using a test that we created to explore the relationship, if any, of stock prices and the popularity of Google searches. Finally, we share our results from the test and discuss the possibility of using the popularity of Google searches to predict future stock price movement.