

Figure V.11: An environment map mapped into a box projection consists of the six views from a point, mapped to the faces of a cube and then unfolded to make a flat image. This scene shows the reflection map from the point at the center of a room. The room is solid blue, except for yellow writing on the walls, ceiling and floor. The rectangular white regions of the environment map are not used. See color plate C.8.