

Figure A.2: The angle between \mathbf{u} and \mathbf{v} equals φ , and is used for computing the dot product. Since $\cos \varphi = \cos(-\varphi) = \cos(360^\circ - \varphi)$ it makes no difference which way the angle is measured for the purposes of computing the dot product.